Re: Roofing Contract for our home, executed March 16-18, 2009

Darren: Our new roof has now been tested by two heavy snows and resulting melts – and we are delighted. Having done a roof myself in younger days, and dissatisfied with the prior roof here, I researched specifications -- which you exceeded as per your normal practice. Too, it was important that the person doing the roof be the one I contracted, and not a third party sub-contractor.

I note that the chimney and skylights received your thorough personal attention, that your assistant was fully capable and professional, and that the job was completed in three long days for the price of the quote – which was very competitive. In all, I thoroughly appreciate your care and effort on our behalf.

Yours sincerely,

John G. Denholm
